May 13, 1953

To the Class of 1953
Cathedral Girls' High School,

Cordial Congratulations! That you have dedicated your Yearbook to Mary Immaculate reflects the valiant character of your class. Evidently realities impress you. No wonder you stand deservedly high.

Your academic studies were based on the virtues of Heaven's Queen and her Divine Son's love for you. The results distinguish you and rejoice your beloved Pastor, Monsignor Dillon, his worthy assistants, Venerable Mother Adrienne and those other brilliant educators who smoothed your pathways to this happy goal.

Now that laurels of scholastic victory crown four years of perseverance may the Holy Spirit fortify your high resolves.

To you, and to your devoted parents, my esteem and affectionate blessings.

Sincerely,

+ Charles F. Buddy

Dear Graduates:

To have labored with our 1953 graduates;
to have offered the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass for you; to have had you in my prayers daily was a consolation that will long be remembered.

May God and His Blessed Mother be with you.

Sincerely in Christ,
Right Rev. Francis Dillon

Seniors

St. Anne . . .

Wife of Joachim, mother of Mary, and grandmother of Jesus. Her strong supernatural life was built on her married life. It began in her complacency as a wife and crowned itself in glorious motherhood. Anne was honored by God with the care of Joachim and Mary. In fulfilling her homely duties, St. Anne sanctified herself and glorified her Creator. She earned the title "Patroness of Mothers."

Mrs. Robert M. Wert (Barbara Chew, '48) with daughter, Barbara Marie exemplifies to Seniors Mary Lou, Pat and Rosemary the happiness of Christian family life.

Class of '53

Barbara Wrye, Senior Class President, inspects library of San Diego College for Women.

The Seniors Look Back...

The Class of '53?? Why that's us, and four short years ago we were climbing C.G.H. stairs for the first time. Stairway to the stars! Everything was so new and so far beyond us. Cathedral drew us from all points of San Diego. Freshman officers taught us the strength of united action. Love and loyalty for Cathedral High grew deeper as the year ended. Memories of our Sophomore days glisten with a Christmas party, a Spring Dance, and a May procession. Activities of our Junior year included cake sales, raffles, and noon dances. Our big dance, "Misty Mood," was a prelude to our Junior success, the Prom of '52 entitled, no less, "Orchids in the Moonlight." Seniors now, and soon to be remembered forever as the class of '53. We leave the memory of an aqua sweater, a satin-crested ring, and a 3-dimensional C to thee, Cathedral High.

Eleven-A Searchlight

A. Amick Our Alice is a tidy lass.
She's also first in every class.

M. Bustamente Our Martha's quite an actress fine.
She hails from near the border line.

P. Cameron Pat tends the switchboard every day.
She makes nice dresses, too, they say.

Y. Cardinas Our dear Yolanda's rather small
She's really less than five feet tall.

J. Cipra The squeaky purse that Jackie owns.
Extracts from us such sighs and groans.

D. Crise Devora favors cheastey
To us it's quite a mystery.

D. Don Dolores is such a Lewis fan.
She does her homework when she can.

M. L. Duggan Our Mary Lou is lots of fun.
We mostly see her on the run.

M. A. Farrell We like Anita's long black hair.
She never rushes anywhere.

A. Glenn We'd rather swim in Arlene's pool.
Than trudge our weary way to school.

C. Henneuse Catherine swims like any fish.
To learn to skate is her only wish.

G. Hilton Penny has a gorgeous tan.
She's also quite a homework fan.

M. Lynch At Kress' Marian sells the socks.
She keeps the business off the rocks.

R. Marinovich Our "Holy Ann" is very good.
We'd all be like her if we could.

I. Mendoza Irene has lovely eyes of brown.
She knows the latest steps in town.

M. Moore "O Johnny, write to me today!
Annapolis is so far away."

J. Mulligan Our "late" Miss Joan is quite a poet.
"To die is to fly," but you'd never know it.

G. Olchawa Fontana claims this lady fair.
She has brothers by the pair.

H. Pacheco Her Johnnie Ray Club meets each night.
She keeps her shoes so clean and white.

D. Persang The oceanside's her rendezvous
"I'm going home tonight, are you?"

N. J. Rempe When Jerry called "O happy day"
We heard her very softly say.

B. Rogers She gets her homework done at school.
For us the opposite's the rule.

S. Ricchiuti We marvel at her two-toned hair.
Spaghetti is her favorite fare.

R. Sanchez They call her "Dudy." We wonder why
She hates to hear us say she's shy.

P. Schuler She rings up "cash" a mile a minute.
The register has money in it.

A. Velasquez Two brothers serve the great Air Force.
She wants to follow a similar course.

P. Welch She's the "Man from Mars" each rainy day
That's all we now have time to say.

USS Junior 11-B

September 15, 1962 the mighty USS JUNIOR 11B weighed anchor and sailed for the high seas. The Cruise was to last approximately ten months. The ship's company was comprised of many former Cathedralites and a handful of new recruits. Our duties consisted of being alert at all times even though we might tire of the same routine.

Once underway we received further orders. Ship's paymaster set to work swabbing decks under the form of pursuing class dues. Together with our sister ship, the USS L. A. Flag Day set the course and noon dancing led our vessel into deeper waters.

In November our ship's compass focused on our class rings which we welcomed aboard on December 8. For our ship's Christmas party we were in full dress from stem to stern in Yuletide fashion.

After weathering stiff inspection of mid-term exams we drifted into calm waters on Retreat. Smooth sailing followed in its wake for the following two months.

Warm calm breezes reminded us that we were nearing the Equator. There in company with the crews of the USS SENIOR and USS 11A King Neptune's Court held full sway at the Hotel Manor for our "Stairway to the Stars" Prom.

Now as our vessel heads towards home, she looks back at the ocean, over the many miles she has navigated. Every crew member feels that she has made a successful cruise.

St. Clare of Assisi . . .

Lover of Poverty, friend of St. Francis, and foundress of Poor Clares, Clare was eighteen when she was inspired by a Lenten sermon to leave all and follow Christ. For forty-two years she kept her religious vows and inspired others to gain souls for God by prayer and penance. Her absolute trust in Divine Providence was rewarded by a miracle. When the Saracens

— a radiant ciborium. She reminded the Lord that she and her sisters were in need of His protection. The Saracens were terror-stricken and fled from the convent.

Sister St. George, Class of '43 and member of the original Legionnaires, spreads the reign of the Sacred Heart among her young charges at Ascension School, Los Angeles.

Ten-A Memories

We are the Sophomores of Cathedral:

We rejoined old friends and eagerly anticipated new things to be done

We elected our officers—Carole, Irma, Sonva and Marv

We always try to do our best:

We filled Red Cross boxes and made bunnies under the guidance of Adrienne

We saved our pennies for the Pagan Babies

A three-day Retreat brought us close to God

We can win

Nancy displayed her talents in the Medical Essay Contest

Julia combined both beauty and poise to win the title "Miss Point Loma."

And we can lose

We got on the band wagon a little late for the Patron Drive, but we showed our loyalty in the end

But we never, never get those blues

We spent eighteen interesting hours mastering first aid

Hip, hip, hurry—for the green and gray

We were thrilled with the results of our dance—"Rustle of Spring."

To be loyal and true we will strive

We took our places with the rest in the Music Festival and in the Garden Party given by the San Diego College for Women

We participated in the St. Patrick's Day Program as one of the classes of the school

So give a great big cheer for the Sophomores of the year, for the Class of '55.

Ten-B Activities

Another year has hastened by
With happy days at Cathedral High
Classes, fun, and fervent prayer,
Each has had its proper share
Helping us to advance as He,
In wisdom, age, and sanctity
Our Christmas play was really fun,
We worked together, just as one
Retreat came next with heav'nly reward
Three happy days spent with Our Lord
Jane and Ann, our poets, wise,
Each won a C.D.A. contest prize
We welcomed April on the wing
With dance we called, "Rustle of Spring."
First Aid gave work in respiration,
Pressure points and transportation
For annual pictures we have posed,
And then our books shall soon be closed
And after summer's pleasures, all
Will be glad to meet again next fall

St. Catherine of Alexandria . . .

Virgin and martyr, patroness of philosophers, scholars, orators and lawyers. Catherine defied a cruel emperor, baffled philosophers, and silenced rhetoricians. Loyally she proved her Faith to the intelligentsia of Alexandria. Calmly she gave her young life in bloody martyrdom to God who had so richly endowed her.

Wine-A Journal

SEPTEMBER . . . The time had come . . . we were entering our first year of high school as Freshmen . . . young tender babes about to be gobbled up by the mighty Seniors!

OCTOBER . . . Initiation was just around the corner . . . terrified at the outset, we emerged with a new feeling toward Seniors . . . they are human beings, after all.

NOVEMBER . . . We chose our class colors . . . red and grey. We also elected our officers . . . the very best.

DECEMBER . . . We gave a Christmas party . . . with gifts . . . gifts that were truly for the Christ Child . . . because, instead of giving them to each other, we gave them to Christ's little ones . . . the orphans in Tijuana.

JANUARY . . . Semester Exams loomed before us . . . Algebra . . . Latin and the rest . . . we managed to pull through.

FEBRUARY . . . Retreat brought recollection and silence . . . we doubted our ability to restrain our busy tongues . . . but the Seniors set a noble example.

MARCH . . . We attended the noon-time Mass in the Cathedral . . . and lent our voices to the Holy Week and Easter services.

APRIL . . . We held a surprise auction and were supported by every student at Cathedral . . . our success proved phenomenal.

MAY . . . The Music Festival gave many of us a chance to show off our voices . . . and our pretty formals.

JUNE . . . Soon we will have to bid farewell to our big sister Seniors, and we will be ready to start our second year toward the goal they have reached. We pray that we may be as loyal and true to Cathedral as they have been.

Nine-B History

Entering Cathedral forty-three strong and representing sixteen grammar schools, we were all impressed by the cheerful friendliness which the upperclassmen showed us during our first day at Cathedral.

We still remember how our good friends, the Seniors, came out with the cry, "Off with the lipstick, Frosh!" and how, on Initiation Day, they were most anxious to dress us up as clowns and tramps—one girl was a pumpkin!

Following initiation, we had elections for class officers, with Mary Louise Paulich at the helm assisted by Ludevina Arciaga, vice president; Lorraine Neves, secretary; Carmen Jacobelly, treasurer. With leaders chosen, we selected our class colors, red and grey, fashioned our emblem, and wrote our class song.

At Christmas, our party was a tremendous success, entertainment being supplied by Mary Jo da Silva, Patricia Brame and Yolanda Escudero.

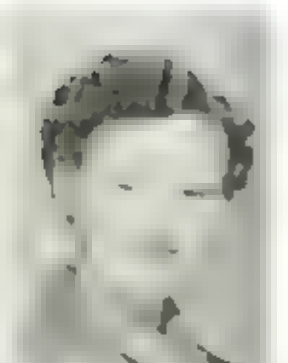

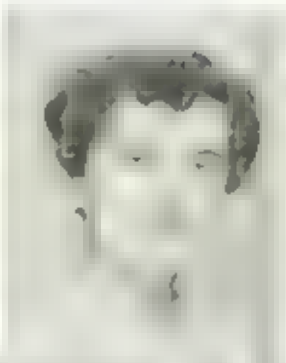

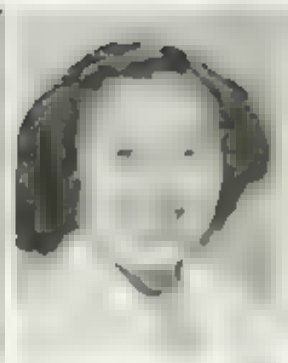

During May, the highlight of our activities centered around participation in the Music Festival, a Cake Walk that we sponsored despite certain "scattered showers," and daily May devotions at the shrine erected in our room. May Our Lady ever continue to guide our steps through our coming years at Cathedral!

THE TOOLS OF THOUGHT...THE Organization

St. Teresa of Avila . . .

Daughter of Spain, Virgin of Avila, and mother of Carmelites, Teresa won her niche in the heart of the Church because she coupled grace and nature in a harmonious whole. She experienced eagle heights of spirituality and solved with sane optimism ordinary problems. Her quill could equally define mystic states or detail a balance sheet. Judgment and prudence were hers in an eminent degree. Level-headed Teresa is the feminine Doctor of Mental Prayer. She proclaims to a skeptical world the compatibility of high sanctity and profound sanity.

Lorraine Nix '51, Southern Cross staff member, gives suggestions to Virginia Wilson, Helen Deyling and Margie Sabado, Cathedral Staff members, while Elita Aguilar, '51, looks on.

Activities

St. Joan of Arc . . .

Bride of Christ, glory of France, and defender of the Faith. St. Michael gave her God's command to battle for her King and land. Filled with fortitude Joan obeyed and left her peaceful Domremy. Courageously she fought and raised the siege of Orleans. Betrayed by her own countrymen, Joan suffered an unjust trial and condemnation. Her last spoken word was "Jesus," as her brave soul soared from her burning body to her Captain and her King.

Senior Farewell

Beloved Cathedral—Your name holds for us a treasure so rich with memories that words cannot express the intense feeling of happiness and gratitude which will be always in our humble hearts

Days, months, and even years have smoothly flown away leaving behind only their shadows to be relived by us

Our appreciation and gratitude for our capable faculty will be enthroned in our hearts

Goodby, Cathedral—for now but not for always; for we will come back to you in thought. May your "spirit" be with us always!

Marina Santa Ana, '54

St. Maria Goretti . . .

Red lily of purity, native of Italy and Saint of our age. Youthful Maria did not hesitate to shed her blood and give her life in defense of virginal purity. Courageous in thought, decisive in word and heroic in act. Maria preferred death to sin
